

Court Bars Turner Bid Post 4/1/73 For Relief

U.S. District Judge Howard F. Corcoran yesterday refused to issue a temporary restraining order against the government in a suit charging federal harassment of Florida promoter Glenn W. Turner.

Corcoran ruled after a 30-minute hearing that he lacked jurisdiction in the case.

The suit, filed by Turner Thursday, alleged that government agencies, including the Internal Revenue Service and Securities and Exchange Commission, were conspiring to drive him out of business.

The suit charged that the government used illegal wiretaps against him and encouraged harassment suits.

Turner, Boston lawyer F. Lee Bailey and eight others were indicted on mail fraud charges last month. Earlier this week, the IRS filed $5.7 million in tax liens against Turner and padlocked his Orlando headquarters.
